There were a few changes to-day in the make no of the fleet besides the arrival of the Arethuse. The Dolphin, the steam yacht of the flottilla, again dropped over to Portsmouth to make preparations for her trip up to Annapolis to meet Secretary Herbort and those who are coming down with him from Washington on Friday. The new cruiser Detroit, returning from her trials in Long Island Sound, again dropped into the Roads and circled the fleet. She was on her way to Baltimore to the ships yards, and looked dirty and hard worked. She carried an improvised flag, on which were the figures 19, which were taken to indicate that her speed on her trial trip had reached nineteen knots an hour.

Socially the day was not as exciting and interesting as either Monday or Tuesday. There was a dance given this afternoon on the Chicago, and to-night the Hygeia Hotel is crowded with officers who were kept away last evening by the series of dinners to the foreigners abourd the American ships. A storm of twenty minutes, about 4 o'clock this afternoon, interfered sadly with the pleasure and comfort of the great crowds of sight-seers who were landed on the reservation here by the excusion boats. Probably 16,000 persons were carried about the Roads in the various steamers which ply from all the nearby centres of popularity plants and Washington, April 19—A note from the Italian Minister has been received at the Navy Department, stating that the Italian squadron sailed from Bermuda for Hampton Roads on April 17, and are expected to reach the Roads to-morrow. The fleet is composed of the cruisers Etna and Dozali. The Department has also been advised of the departure of the Brazilian squadron for the Roads from Barbados on April 15. The fleet is composed of the battleship Aquidaban, the gunboat Triadentes and the cruiser Republica. It is expected that they will reach the Roads on Saturlay or Sunday.

About the last time that she was seen in New-York was when she went skimming down the sy and up the North River, with Nathaniel Green Herreshoff, her designer and owner, on her deck, at the rate of 22 or 23 tailes an hour. While Mr. Whitney was Secretary of the Navy he bought her in July, 1887, for $25,000, having urged Congress to appropriate that amount for the purpose. Since then she has been utilized at the torpedo station, Newport, as an experimental vessel for torpedoes. She comes to New-York to be used as a special dispatch boot during the naval review, by Captain Frederick Rodgers, supervisor of the barbor, and will remain at avy Yard till Menday.

PLEASED WITH THE LEGISLATURE'S WORK

HE PAILS, HOWEVER, TO COMMENT ON THE SCORES OF BAD LAWS ENACTED, OR TO

MENTION " HOME RULE." Albany, April 19.—Governor Flower was asked to-dty what he thought of the work of the Legislative sion about ended. He replied:

"There have been few sessions of the Legislature which have resulted in so many good laws as that which has just expired. Personally it affords me great pleasure to say that the Legislature has carried out nearly every suggestion and recommendation which I had the honor to make in my annual message. Let me go over some of the important measures which have already become laws, and a few others which are now before me and will undoubtedly become laws. In the first place, there is the new Forestry law, which which consists not only of a complete and careful revision of previously existing laws relating to the forests, but contains some new features based upon a careful study of prevailing conditions, and framed nomical way the preservation of our great wooded areas. The new law provides for the creation of a new commission, who have already been appointed. ber of Commerce to take the officers from Fortysecond-st., North River, to the City Hall.

then to Fourteenth-st, then to Broadway, then by the City Hall, then to embark at most convenient think I have found such a commission, and I shall be disappointed if they do not fulfil my expectations of their worth. "The policy adopted last year of selling all lands outside the limits of the Adirondack Park and of purchasing with the proceeds other lands within the limits of the park has not been disturbed, but the buying and selling of lands has been surrounded with ampler safeguards. Moreover, permission has been given the commission to sell soft standing timber on State lands of a greater diameter than twelve inches. This, without injuring the forest whatever, ought to bring in considerable revenue to the State. Frankly, I do not see why the Adirondack Park should ever cost the people another cent in the way of taxation. I believe that the law as it now stands will enable great streams and preserve the Adirondack region from loss of its timber but will accomplish all this without additional taxation even for the maintenance of the Forest Commission and its employes, and, eventually, will actually be a source of revenue to were those to promote the cause of good roads. As I said in my annual message, I believe that the attempt is made to undertake a great and expensive system of state highways. The bill which has been enacted to carry out this idea authorizes the Board of supervisors in each county to borrow money for road improvaments, to designate certain country roads which should be built and maintained by the up to an anchorage in Hudson River above the fourth-st. In order that Boards of Supervisors may be encouraged bert also issued to-day an order giving instructions as to the shore features of the ecremonies at New-York. It was learned at the Navy Department that there is a strong probability that a number of commanders of foreign ships will direct their men to join the batter tailons of this country in the land parade. Alto-tailons of the country in the land location of the country of fereign ships will direct their men to join the battailons of this country in the land parade. Altogether there are about 9,000 men in the fiset, 3,000 tening attached to the United States vessels alone. It is safe to say that at least 50, possibly 75, per cent of Admiral Gherard's callsted force will be landed. If a corresponding percentage of men from the forsten ships are landed the parade will be an imposing one and form a fitting conclusion to the extensions of the day. Some of the commanders of foreign vessels have already expressed a willingness to permit their men to day. Some of the commanders of foreign vessels have thought that the experiment might without danger already expressed a willingness to permit their men to be tried at Clinton Prison, where, by reason of the Board of Supervisors is likely to undertsite any stabgrate enterprise unless it is confident of being sustained by the public sentiment of the county, but the economy and advantages of good highways are coning to be generally recognized, and each year a stronger public sentiment demands some action in this line. The advantage of the new law is that it encourages action on the part of the representatives of the county town, where farmers and others have been somewhat slow to appreciate the desirability of good roads, because the greater point of the expense of establishing county highways will fall upon the incorporated villages and cities within the county, and not, as heretofore, on the rural districts. Nor do I think the people in the cities and villages will Many of these boats will no doubt secure berths within the boundaries of the patrol fleet, and while do I think the people in the cities and villages will there will be easier access to the centres of population and, consequently, more business and trading, "One of the most creditable things accomplisto see the ceremonies attending the review, and will be ready to move out at the instant that the patrol

In the first place, the fear of cholera entering the country next place, the fear of choleia entering the country next summer has made an unusual demand for the abolition of certain nuisances along the canals which it was feared would breed pestilence and affect the health of the people of the community. In the second place, there has been important repairs needed here and there in order to prevent damage saits being brought against the State. I saw a number of these weak places along the canals during my inspection of them last fail and it occurred to me, as it would to any business man, that it would be much cheaper for the state to grant reasonable appropriations now for the repair of these places than to be obliged to expend very much more a year or two hence for damages to private property. Heyond this there have been an unusually large number of applications for canal bridges and liberal appropriation has been made for increasing the lackage capacity of the canals. —fresh air and proper food, help to keep a woman in good condition. It's insufficient for some, weak-ened or borne down as they are by the ailments and irregularities peculiar to their sex.

They're easily helped, though; there's ed, though; there's Favorite Prescription—that will build up and cure every enfeebled woman. It's the prescription of a physician; has been tested in thousands of cases, and never found wanting.

The only risk that's taken is that of the money if no benefit is experienced.

This "Prescription" reaches the origin of the trouble. Dizziness, fainting spells, and nervous disorders, such as sleeplossness, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, depend upon the irregularities and displacements of the special structures—the "Pavorite Prescription" cures by regulating and correcting these functions and organic changes. A lawyer for certain stockholders in "The Journal of Commerce" said yesterday that David M. Stone and William C. Prime, the principal owners of the paper, had disposed of their interest and that at the annual meeting of the stockholders next week the paper would pass into other hands. It was also reported that "The Commercial Bulletin" had bought some of the stock of "The Journal of Commerce." A Tribune reporter called all Mr. Stone's house to Brooking last state and received the Mr. Stone's house in Brooklyn last night and received the following message:

"Mr. Stone is sick with the grip and has nothing whatever to say. He has heard that 'The Commercial Bulletin' people have been buying stock in 'The Journal of Commerce,' but be knows nothing himself. The annual meeting of the stockholders of the paper will be held on the 28th and will show if any of the stories are true." The minerity stockholders in "The Journal of Commerce" are also said to be the purchasers of the interest

CHURCHES TO UNITE AND BUILD.

CHURCHES TO UNITE AND BUTTER.

It is now definitely known that the West Forty-third Street Methodist Church and the Church of St. John in West Fifty-third-st. will shortly consolidate, sell their two houses of worship, and build a new structure on neutral territory—that is, between the two streets mentioned. The committees from both churches have about completed arrangements for the proposed chaoge, and in a few weeks the two churches will be united.

The two proposition are valued at about $120,000, and The two properties are valued at about $120,000, and this will be used toward erecting a structure to cost not more than $175,000, including the site,
